Prusik Asian Smaller Companies Fund

The Company’s investment objective is to engineer capital growth primarily by investing in companies operating in the Asian and Australasian region.

In pursuit of its investment objective the Company invests in emerging companies operating in Asia including Australia, New Zealand, Hong Kong, Taiwan, South Korea, China, India, Sri Lanka, Pakistan, Thailand, Indonesia, Malaysia, Singapore and the Philippines and generally seeks to invest, on average, in companies which have a price to book value ratio and a price/earnings ratio below the level then prevailing in the market of that sector. The Company pursues its investment objective primarily by taking short and long positions in publicly traded common stocks and other equity securities of Asian issuers and Australasian issuers. In addition, the Company’s investments are likely to include situations where an event has triggered a change in the market’s perception of the future outlook for a specific company or industry. The Policy will also enable the Company to invest in equity securities of issuers in Recognised Markets outside of Asia and Australasia and in debt and other fixed-income securities of Asian and Australasian and other issuers in Recognised Markets.

The Company may invest in American depository receipts and global depository receipts and other equity related securities and instruments, which may be over-the counter (“OTC”) or listed, including convertible bonds, depository receipts and warrants as well as other securities such as bonds and preference shares issued by corporate and governmental issuers (and which may be fixed or floating, and of both investment grade (B or higher) or non-investment grade).

The Company may invest in both short and long term Asian and Australasian foreign debt securities (such as fixed and/or floating rate bonds and notes) of corporate issuers and government entities. The debt and other fixed income securities in which the Company may invest will principally be of investment grade. The Company may, however, invest on a very limited basis in debt and fixed income securities which are not required to satisfy any minimum rating standard. Such securities may include instruments that are considered to be of poor standing and which have predominantly speculative characteristics with respect to capacity to pay interest and repay principal.

The Company may utilise techniques for efficient portfolio management and/or to protect against exchange risks, subject to the conditions and within the limits laid down by the Central Bank. These techniques and instruments include but are not limited to futures, options, forward foreign exchange contracts, interest and exchange rate swap contracts, stock lending and repurchase and reverse repurchase agreements.

Investment Manager's Report

2011 was a miserable year for Asian smaller companies with the MSCI Asia Pacific ex-Japan Smaller Companies Index falling 26.3%. This partly explains the performance of the Prusik Asia Smaller Companies Fund which finished the year down 19.86%. 2011 was also a year where the macro news deteriorated, resulting in a powerful fear-driven nadir in early October and where owning defensives was really the only winning strategy. Our thematic approach, small-cap orientation and more growth orientated style was swamped by the market's overall risk aversion and wild gyrations. We did, however, have some areas of success, notably the biotech and healthcare sectors which performed very strongly throughout the year.

The volatility in 2011 was remarkable. The MSCI Asia Pacific ex-Japan Index touched a high point in early May at a quarterly gain of 4.6% and troughed in mid June some 9.8% below that high. The last two weeks of the first half then saw a dramatic rally which erased most of these losses. The volatility of the second half of the year was even worse. The index fell more than 30% from its May peak to its October low only to then rebound 19% and fall 10% in the last 3 months of the year.

In the first half of the year, our themes and underlying stocks performed well. The Taiwan domestic theme (Shining Building, Hung Poo), internet services (Daum Communications), branded consumer goods (Emperor Watch and Jewellery, Biostime, TTK Prestige) and healthcare (Mesoblast, Starpharma and KPJ Healthcare) were amongst the strongest contributors for the period.

However, the second half of the year proved more difficult and was disappointing. In August, the stock markets fell sharply and currencies followed. For example, the Korean won fell 10.5% against the US dollar over the quarter and 14% peak to trough. Likewise, the Australian dollar fell 9.1% over the quarter while the Indian rupee fell by 9.8%, the Taiwan dollar by 5.6% and the Singapore dollar by 6.7%. In all, although we did have some futures cover in place, it did not protect us from these currency moves and we estimate that about a third of the decline suffered by the fund was due to currency loss. Additionally, we did not make strong enough gains in the October rally due to our defensive positioning and cash weighting, resulting in the disappointing performance for the full year.

Looking forward to 2012, we are putting 2011 behind us and gathering some optimism. There is an old saying 'don't fight the Fed' but it is likely to be applicable to all central banks. The European Central Bank programme to lend unlimited three year money to the banks is a form of quantitative easing. Emerging market banks are already joining the fray with four cutting rates and more are expected to join soon. Inflation is gradually falling. Moreover, this is taking place against a backdrop of very attractive valuations in Asia and many signs that economic growth is not just a feature of our past. Signs of life in the US economy are important but there is also plenty elsewhere to get excited about. Asia's stock markets could step away from the fears and news flow volatility from the Eurozone and respond to the regional news and demonstrable value.

In 2012, we are setting out our expectations as follows:

- We think the liquidity environment will be better in 2012 than in 2011.
- There is unlikely to be a resolution in Europe (such as fiscal unity) until later in the year at the earliest, so the current status quo remains.
- Asian valuations suggest likely upside from here. Furthermore, if shares and hence valuations were to fall a further 20% then we would be at all time historic valuation lows and would have reached levels where it has always been correct to ignore the macro picture and buy stocks. As such, the risk/reward is favourably skewed with the risk on the downside now looking smaller than the potential upside.
- At current valuations we believe there is over 20% upside to Hong Kong and China and well over 100% upside in Vietnam. Other ASEAN markets such as the Philippines warrant at least 15%-20% upside from here.
- The MSCI Asia Pacific ex Japan Smaller Companies Index fell on average 30% in 2011, so there is also extreme value in this segment of the market.

We invested as follows;

- Hong Kong and China: 25%-40% based on the attractive value of companies and expectations of easier monetary and / or fiscal policy in China.
- ASEAN: 45%-55% based on the extreme value and positive structural story both in Vietnam and the Philippines, and the strong demographic and domestic economic environment in Thailand and Malaysia.
- Gold: 5%-10% based on the likely move towards money creation in the absence of anything else working in the West, and Asian governments' voracious appetite for increasing gold as a share of foreign reserves.
- Technology: 5%-10% based on the strong low-end smartphone theme, now very cheap after a bad 2011.

Prusik Asian Smaller Companies Fund plc

Annual Report and Audited Financial Statements

- Mobile Gaming: 5%-10% one of the strongest new themes which will arrive in China and emerging markets this year.
- Biotech: 5%-10% a good performer in 2011 but 2012 will bring further upside through monetization of products and M&A from 'big Pharma' predators.

Thematically, we remain very keen on domestic consumption but must emphasise that this does not include the expensive consumer staples companies nor the widely held luxury brands. Instead we have significant exposure to Shopping Malls, Tourism, including Air Travel (a more cyclical and value driven choice), Domestic Brands, Toll Roads, Private Healthcare, Game Developers, and some Property, Banks and Construction in the Frontier Markets.

We would like to sincerely thank our investors for their tremendous support over a difficult year.

2. ACCOUNTING POLICIES

BASIS OF PRESENTATION OF FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

The financial statements have been prepared in accordance with accounting standards generally accepted in Ireland and Irish Statute comprising the Companies Acts, 1963 to 2009 and the European Communities (Undertakings for Collective Investment in Transferable Securities) Regulations, 2011 (S.I. No. 352 of 2011), as amended. Accounting standards generally accepted in Ireland in preparing financial statements giving a true and fair view are those published by the Institute of Chartered Accountants in Ireland and issued by the Accounting Standards Board (“ASB”).

The format and certain wordings of the financial statements have been adapted from those contained in the Companies (Amendment) Act, 1986 and FRS 3 “Reporting Financial Performance” so that, in the opinion of the Directors, they may more appropriately reflect the nature of the Company’s business as an investment fund. The Company has availed of the exemption available to open-ended investment funds under FRS 1 not to prepare a cash flow statement. The financial statements have been prepared on a consistent basis with the prior year end accounts.

The significant accounting policies and estimation techniques adopted by the Company are as follows:

FINANCIAL INSTRUMENT MEASUREMENT

(i) Classification

In accordance with FRS26 “Financial Instruments: Recognition and Measurement”, the Company designated all its assets and liabilities as Financial Assets and Liabilities at fair value through profit or loss. The category of Financial Assets and Liabilities at fair value through profit or loss is further subdivided into:-

Financial assets and liabilities held for trading

These include equities, forward currency contracts and futures held by the Company. These instruments are acquired or incurred principally for the purpose of generating a profit from short-term fluctuation in price. All the Company’s assets and liabilities are held for the purpose of being traded or are expected to be realised within one year.

Financial instruments designated as at fair value through profit or loss upon initial recognition

These include Financial Assets or Liabilities that are not held for trading. These financial instruments are designated on the basis that their fair value can be reliably measured and their performance has been evaluated on a fair value basis in accordance with the risk management and/or investment strategy as set out in the Company’s Prospectus. There were no such financial instruments designated as at fair value through profit or loss upon initial recognition held by the Company at year end.

(ii) Recognition

All regular purchases and sales of financial instruments are recognised on the trade date, subject to receipt before agreed cut-off time, which is the date that the Company commits to purchase or sell an asset. Regular way purchase or sales are purchases or sales of financial instruments that require delivery of assets within the period generally established by regulation or convention in the market place.

Investment transactions are accounted for as of the date they are purchased or sold. The accounting policy used to calculate realised gains and losses on the sale of investments is weighted average cost basis. Realised gains and losses on investment transactions are recorded in the Income Statement.

(iii) Derecognition

A financial asset (or, where applicable a part of a financial asset or part of group of similar assets) is derecognised where

- The rights to receive cash flows from the assets have expired; or
- The Company transferred its rights to receive cash flows from the assets or has assumed an obligation to pay the received cash flows in full without material delay to a third party under 'pass through' arrangements;
- Either (a) the Company has transferred substantially all the risks and rewards of the assets, or (b) the Company has neither transferred nor retained substantially all the risks and rewards of the assets, but has transferred control of the asset.

When the Company has transferred its right to receive cash flows from an asset or has entered into a pass-through arrangement, and has neither transferred nor retained substantially all the risks and rewards of the asset nor transferred control of the asset, the asset is recognised to the extent of the Company's continuing involvement in the asset. Continuing involvement that takes the form of a guarantee over the transferred asset is measured at the lower of the original carrying amount of the asset and the maximum amount of consideration that the company could be required to repay.

The Company derecognises a financial liability when the obligation specified in the contract is discharged, cancelled or expires.

(iv) Initial Measurement

Financial instruments categorised at fair value through profit or losses are measured initially at fair value, with transaction costs for such instruments being recognised directly in the Income Statement.

Financial liabilities, other than those classified as at fair value through profit and loss are recognised initially at fair value plus transaction costs that are directly attributable to their acquisition or issue.

Components of hybrid financial instruments are measured in accordance with the above policies based on their classification.

(v) Subsequent measurement

After initial measurement, the Company measures financial instruments which are classified as at fair value through profit or loss at their fair values. Fair value is the amount for which an asset could be exchanged, or a liability settled, between knowledgeable, willing parties in an arm's length transaction. Securities which are quoted, listed or traded on a Recognised Exchange will be valued at last bid prices at the valuation point.

If a quoted market price is not available on a recognised stock exchange or from a broker/counterparty, the fair value of the financial instruments may be estimated by the directors using valuation techniques, including use of recent arm's length market transactions, reference to the current fair value of another instrument that is substantially the same, discounted cash flow techniques, option pricing models or any other valuation technique that provides a reliable estimate of prices obtained in actual market transactions.

Cash and Other Liquid Assets

Cash comprises current deposits with banks. Cash and other liquid assets will be valued at their face value with accrued interest on interest bearing accounts as at the close of business on each valuation date.

Derivative Instruments

Derivative instruments traded on a regulated market shall be valued at the settlement price as determined by the market. If the settlement price is not available, the value shall be the probable realisation value estimated with care and in good faith by (i) the Directors or the Investment Manager or (ii) a competent person, firm or corporation selected by the Directors and approved for the purpose by the Custodian or (iii) any other means provided that the value is approved by a competent person (such competent person having been approved for the purpose by the Custodian). Derivative contracts which are not traded on a regulated market including without limitation swap contracts will be valued on the basis of a quotation provided daily by the relevant counterparty and verified or approved at least weekly by a party independent of the counterparty, including the Investment Manager, or another independent party which is approved for such purpose by the Custodian. Apart from forward foreign currency contracts and futures contracts as at 31 December 2011 and 31 December 2010 the Company did not hold any derivative instruments.

Forward Foreign Exchange Contracts

Forward foreign exchange contracts shall be valued in the same manner as derivatives contracts which are not traded in a regulated market or by reference to the price at the Valuation Point at which a new forward contract of the same size and maturity could be undertaken. The forward foreign exchange contracts held by the Company as at 31 December 2011 are included in the Schedule of Investments.

Futures Contracts

A futures contract is an agreement between two parties to buy and sell a security, index or currency at a specific price or rate at a future date. Upon entering into a futures contract, the Company is required to deposit with a broker an amount of cash or cash equivalents equal to a certain percentage of the contract amount. This is known as 'initial cash margin'. Subsequent payments ('variation margin') are made or received by the Company each day, depending upon the daily fluctuation in the value of the contract. The daily changes in contract value are recorded as unrealised gains or losses and the Company recognises a realised gain or loss when the contract is closed. Realised and unrealised gains and losses on futures contracts are recognised in the Income Statement. The futures contracts held by the Company at 31 December 2011 are included in the Schedule of Investments.

Collective Investment Schemes

Units in collective investment schemes shall be valued at the latest available net asset value per unit or bid price as published by the relevant collective investment scheme or, if listed or traded on a Recognised Exchange, in accordance with listed securities above. As at 31 December 2011 and 31 December 2010 the Company did not hold any units in collective investment schemes.

INVESTMENT TRANSACTIONS AND INVESTMENT INCOME

Investment transactions are accounted for as at the date purchased or sold. Gains and losses arising from changes in the fair value of the Financial Assets at fair value through profit or loss are included in the Income Statement in the period which they arise. Dividends are credited to the Income Statement on the dates on which the relevant securities are listed as "ex-dividend". Interest income is accrued on a daily basis. Income is shown gross of non-recoverable withholding tax.

A chargeable event includes any distribution payments to shareholders or any encashment, redemption or transfer of Shares. No tax will arise on the Company in respect of chargeable events in respect of:

Following legislative changes in the Finance Act 2006, the holding of shares at the end of a Relevant Period will, in respect of Irish Resident investors, also constitute a chargeable event. To the extent that any tax issues arise on such a chargeable event, such tax will be allowed as a credit against any tax payable on the subsequent encashment, redemption, cancellation or transfer of the relevant Shares. Relevant Period is defined as a period of eight years beginning with the acquisition of a Share by a shareholder and each subsequent period of eight years beginning immediately after the preceding relevant period.

Dividend income and interest received by the Company may be subject to non-recoverable withholding tax in the countries of origin.

No direct payment may be made for such goods or services but the Investment Manager may undertake to place business with that person provided that person has agreed to provide best execution with respect to such business and the services provided must be of a type which assists in the provision of investment services to the Company.

During the years ending 31 December 2011 and 31 December 2010 there were no soft commission transactions.

9. EFFICIENT PORTFOLIO MANAGEMENT

The Company may employ techniques and instruments relating to transferable securities and money market instruments, for the purposes of efficient portfolio management including but not limited to futures, options, swaps, warrants, and forward currency contracts. Such techniques and instruments may include foreign exchange transactions which alter the currency characteristics of transferable securities held by the Company. The Company may also employ techniques and instruments intended to provide protection against exchange risk in the context of the management of its assets and liabilities. As at 31 December 2011 the Company did not hold any such instruments for the purposes of efficient portfolio management, apart from forward currency contracts held with the Custodian, and futures contracts held with Citigroup Global Markets.

Forward currency contracts entered into by the Company represent a firm commitment to buy or sell an underlying asset, or currency at a specified value and point in time based upon an agreed or contracted quantity. The realised/unrealised gain or loss is equal to the difference between the value of the contract at the onset and the value of the contract at settlement date and is included in the Income Statement.

A futures contract is an agreement between two parties to buy or sell a security, index or currency at a specific price or rate at a future date. Upon entering into a futures contract, the Fund was required to deposit with Citigroup Global Markets broker, an amount of cash or cash equivalents equal to a certain percentage of the contract amount. This is known as 'initial cash margin'. Subsequent payments ('variation margin') are made or received by the company each day, depending upon the daily fluctuation in the value of the contract. The daily changes in contract value were recorded as unrealised gains or losses and the Fund recognised a realised gain or loss when the contract was closed. Unrealised gains and losses on futures contracts are recognised in the Income Statement.

The positions held by the Company at the year end are disclosed in the Schedule of Investments.

12. RISK MANAGEMENT

In accordance with FRS29 "Financial Instruments: Disclosures", this note details the way in which the Company manages risks associated with the use of financial instruments. Day-to-day risk management of the Company is undertaken by the Investment Manager. Investment in the Company carries with it a degree of risk including, but not limited to, the risks referred to below.

As defined by FRS29, risk can be separated into the following components: market risk, credit risk and liquidity risk. Each type of risk is discussed in turn and qualitative and quantitative analyses are provided where relevant to give the reader an understanding of the risk management methods used by the Investment Manager and Board of Directors.

Market Risk

This risk comprises of three main types of risk, Market Price Risk, Currency Risk and Interest Rate Risk.

Market Price Risk

The investments of the Company are subject to normal market fluctuations and the risks inherent in investment in various securities markets and there can be no assurances that appreciation will occur. Stock markets can be volatile and stock prices can change substantially.

The Company invests in equity securities of companies in emerging markets. Such securities involve a high degree of risk and may be considered speculative. Risks include (i) greater risk of expropriation, confiscatory taxation, nationalisation, and social, political and economic instability; (ii) the small current size of the markets for securities of emerging markets issuers and the currently low or non-existent volume of trading, resulting in lack of liquidity and in price volatility, (iii) certain national policies which may restrict the Company's investment opportunities including restrictions on investing in issuers or industries deemed sensitive to relevant national interests; and (iv) the absence of developed legal structures governing private or foreign investment and private property.

Currency Risk

Currency Risk is the risk that the fair value or future cash flows of a financial instrument will fluctuate because of changes in foreign exchange rates. Currency risk arises on financial instruments that are denominated in a currency other than the functional currency in which they are measured. The net asset values per share of the Company are computed in U.S. Dollars whereas the investments of the

12. RISK MANAGEMENT (continued)

Company may be acquired, valued and disposed of in other currencies. The U.S. Dollar value of the investments of the Company designated in another currency may rise and fall due to exchange rate fluctuations in respect of the relevant currency.

Interest Rate Risk

This risk is defined as the risk that the fair value of future cash flows of a financial instrument will fluctuate because of changes in market interest rates. The value of investments in interest rate bearing securities may be subject to price volatility due to changes in interest rates. An increase in interest rates will generally reduce the value of debt securities that are issued and outstanding, while a decline in interest rates will generally increase the value of debt securities that are issued and outstanding.

The Company has no exposure to Interest Rate Risk as at 31 December 2011 (2010: nil).

Credit Risk

The Company takes on exposure to credit risk, which is the risk that one party to a financial instrument will cause a financial loss for the other party by failing to discharge an obligation.

Liquidity Risk

This is the risk that the Company will encounter difficulty in meeting obligations associated with financial liabilities. The Company is exposed to fortnightly cash redemptions of redeemable participating shares. It therefore invests the majority of its assets in investments that are traded in an active market and can be readily disposed of. The Company's listed securities are considered readily realisable as they are listed on a stock exchange or dealt in on another regulated market. Some of the Recognised Exchanges in which the Company may invest may be less well regulated than those in developed markets and may prove to be illiquid, insufficiently liquid or highly volatile from time to time. This may affect the price at which the Company may liquidate positions to meet redemption requests or other funding requirements.

Market Price Risk

The Investment Manager adopts a bottom up, stock selection approach when constructing the portfolio. The Investment Manager selects stocks on Asian issuers which they believe have an attractive discount to their intrinsic value.

Sensitivity to Market Price Risk

The following table lists exchange exposure, reasonably possible market movements and their impact to the Company's Profit and Loss and Net Assets as at 31 December 2011.

31 December 2011

Currency Risk

Assets of the Company may be denominated in a currency other than the base currency of the Company and changes in the exchange rate between the base currency and the currency of the asset may lead to depreciation or appreciation of the value of the Company's assets as expressed in the base currency. The Investment Manager does not hedge the potential foreign currency risk at an investment level as it believes that currency risk is inherent in the market price of the investment and that over time, in the long term perspective, the impact of currency movements on the value of the Company's investments will, even out to a broadly neutral effect.

The following sets out the net exposure of the Company's portfolios to currencies other than the U.S. Dollar as at the year end, which suggests a possible size of currency movement over the course of a year and the projected impact of a movement of the size indicated on the net assets of the Company based on the currency exposure as at 31 December 2011.

The cash balance is managed by the Custodian and swept into either the Custodian itself, or another bank. This policy of diversifying the cash balances with a number of different of sub-custodians is a policy implemented by the Custodian on behalf of the Company. Cash accounts opened on the books of the Custodian are obligations of the Custodian while cash accounts opened on the books of a sub-custodian are obligations of the sub-custodian. Fair Value Measurements

The Company adopted FRS 29 which established a three-tier hierarchy to prioritise the assumptions, referred to as inputs, used in valuation techniques to measure fair value. The three-tier hierarchy of inputs is summarized in the three broad levels listed below.

Level 1 – Quoted prices in active markets for identical investments.

Level 2 – Prices determined using other significant observable inputs. Observable inputs are inputs that reflect the assumptions market participants would use in pricing a security and are developed based on market data obtained from sources independent of the reporting entity (including quoted prices for similar investments, interest rates, prepayment speeds, credit risk, etc.).

Level 3 – Prices determined using significant unobservable inputs. In situations where quoted prices or observable inputs are unavailable or deemed less relevant (for example, when there is little or no market activity for an investment at the end of the period), unobservable inputs are inputs that reflect the reporting entity's own assumptions about the factors market participants would use in pricing the security and would be based on the best information available under the circumstances.

The inputs or methodology used for valuing securities are not necessarily an indication of the risk associated with investing in those securities.

At 31 December 2011 the inputs used in valuing the Company's investments, which are carried at value, were as follows:

	Level 1 USD	Level 2 USD	Level 3 USD	Total USD
Financial Assets at fair value through profit or loss
Listed equities securities	46,981,239	-	-	46,981,239
Equity linked securities	2,440,188	-	-	2,440,188

Total Investments in Securities	49,544,234	(233,496)	-	49,310,738

At 31 December 2010 the inputs used in valuing the Company's investments, which are carried at value, were as follows:

	Level 1 USD	Level 2 USD	Level 3 USD	Total USD
Financial Assets at fair value through profit or loss
Listed equities securities	56,619,567	-	-	56,619,567
Equity linked securities	4,638,504	-	-	4,638,504
Forward Contracts	-	613,836	-	613,836
Future Contracts	8,508	-	-	8,508
Total	61,266,579	613,836	-	61,880,415

Forward Contracts	-	(6,417)	-	(6,417)
Total Investments in Securities	61,266,579	607,419	-	61,873,998

When fair values of listed equity at the reporting date are based on quoted market prices or binding dealer price quotations (bid price for long position and ask price of short positions), without any deduction for transaction cost, the instruments are included within level 1 of the hierarchy.

The fair values of forward currency exchange contracts are calculated by reference to the current exchange rates for contract with similar maturity risk profile.

Capital Management

As a result of the ability to issue, repurchase and resell shares, the capital of the Company can vary depending on the demand for redemptions and subscriptions to the Company. The Company is not subject to externally imposed capital requirements and has no restrictions on the issue, repurchase or resale of redeemable shares.

13. NET ASSET COMPARISON

In accordance with the provisions of the Company's Prospectus, marketable investment securities are valued at last traded prices at the valuation point. Marketable investment securities for financial statement purposes are required by FRS 26 to be valued based on last bid prices at the valuation point. The difference between the two valuation methods may result in a difference between the NAV per share shown in the financial statements and the NAV per share at which redeemable participating shares are issued and redeemed.

As at 31 December 2011 and 31 December 2010 the difference between the NAV required by FRS 26 and the NAV at which redeemable shares are issued and redeemed is detailed in the table below.
