Investment Process

The process is both quantitative and qualitative with the latter dominating. The universe is screened for those high dividend stocks which have the greatest ability to sustain and grow their dividends over time. A particular emphasis is placed on identifying those companies with exceptional franchises, annuity like cash flows and pricing power which are trading at significant discounts to intrinsic value.

Fund Manager Commentary

The fund rose by 10.62% compared to a market rise of 14.83%. The biggest three contributors to returns were Anhui Expressway (China toll road), Texwinca (China textiles and retail) and IOOF (Australian wealth management). The biggest detractors were Ratchaburi Electric (Thai Power producer), Hite Jinro (Korean beverage company), CPN Retail Growth Fund (Thai shopping malls).

During the month, visits were made to China, Hong Kong, Singapore and Korea. It is clear that businesses exposed to the US and Europe are seeing weaker demand however, the impact on domestically focused businesses is less clear. Although there is a degree of nervousness that the events in Europe will derail growth in the region, current business conditions remain relatively robust. Intra-regional tourism remains very firm (particularly outward bound Chinese), retail spending is resilient and the banking system remains very liquid and able to withstand the current turmoil. We visited several of our holdings and did come back with the view that we are not seeing any significant deterioration in business conditions yet. Of course if the conditions in Europe continue to get worse then this may change but, for now, the companies seem to be performing well.

There were no significant changes to the portfolio but we have added a position in Hite Jinro following a visit to the company. Hite Jinro is the dominant beer and Soju (rice wine) producer in Korea. Trading at 11x earnings and with a dividend yield of 5.5% it is one of the cheapest companies in the sector globally. Although they have suffered from market-share losses and a margin squeeze in the last two years, we believe that the market is now overly pessimistic on the company and, as a result, it is trading at a steep discount to intrinsic value. It would not be difficult for the company to double earnings (and dividends) over the next three years merely by maintaining their current market-share level and increasing margins back to the historical average.
